

WHITLEY MEMORIAL COOK BOOK

This week I have informed the children about our next whole school technology project, which is to produce a school cookery book.

I have asked the children to think about something that they enjoy making at home, it may be scones, cookies, quiche or a tray bake. I would like them to copy out the recipe in their very best handwriting or to type the recipe up on the computer.

The children could include alongside their recipe a drawing of the finished product, the ingredients or the equipment used. Unfortunately no photographs can be included in our book.

Contributing to the cookery book is optional, however the children are very excited about having their recipes in a cook book that other people will use.

Please send any recipes directly to myself with the child's full name and the class that they are in. I look forward to receiving them and will try to include as many as I can in the finished product.

Thank you

Mrs Martin

Design Technology Co-ordinator